

REGIT

We wish to dedicate the 1956-57 yearbook to our parents. In so doing we hope you will overlook our mistakes. We deeply appreciate the untiring efforts which you have put forth for us to grow to be men and women, a democratic country would be proud to call its citizens. At the most this is a very inadequate tribute of affection and respect. We hope as you look through these pages you will see we have endeavored to recall memories which will be among your life's treasures.

Senior Class History

On September 1, 1945, eight adventuresome and wide-eyed five and six year-olds were accompanied by their mothers to the first grade. Sue Miller, Jenny Huckabey, Kathryn Smith, Norman Bentley, Robert Hayes, Dick Drace, Darlene Spoonmore, and John Dinsmore eyed our first grade teacher, Miss Koehl, with wonder. Miss Koehl taught us such things as the alphabet, addition and subtraction. Also we shall never forget our adventures with Dick and Jane.

Jenny Huckabey left us our second year, but our class did not decrease, because Theodore Victor Hern joined us at this time.

In the third grade Jenny came back because she was tired of being the head of her class in the country school she went to. Incidentally, she was the only one in her grade.

Our fourth year no one joined our "happy little throng."

One day in the fifth grade our room door opened and in walked none other than Donald Freese. He was about as puzzled as we were about fractions.

Additions to our class started picking up in the sixth grade as Jim Shannon and James Atterbury joined "our gang". Donald Freese left us only to return later.

In the seventh grade Bob Beaver, Gerry Paris, Patsy Rodgers, and Harold Calvert became additions to our class.

Donna Fry joined us in our last year of Grade School.

Wilma Lane, Sylvia Jansen, and Mike Kussman "joined" us as we were initiated our freshman year; Donald Freese also arrived upon the scene.

No 1957 seniors joined us as we became sophomores.

As we were practicing our Junior Play, one day, Kay Neil paid us a visit and became another "BAD DUGENS".

After eleven years of going to Keytesville Public School, we became seniors at last. Joining us this year were Barbara Akers, Helen Akers, Joyce Blackwell, Maxine Blanton, William Christopher Joyce Ford, James Glasgow, Chris Tatum, Eleanor Turner, and Frances Williams. Our total number of seniors then became thirty-one. It won't be long now before the 16th of May, when the 1957 graduates of Keytesville Public School will receive their diplomas. Many, many, of us will remember our school days at "K. H. S.".

Senior Class Prophecy

I, Madam Mystic, know all, see all, and tell all. My predictions are infallible. Just cross my palm with silver and I will look into your future.

One day while shining my crystal ball, I suddenly got a fresh batch of visions. All of these pertained to the great Senior class of Keytesville, in 1957.

In my crystal ball I saw Gerry Faris the "Elvis Presley" of 1967, as the country's newest rock and roll singing sensation.

I saw Patsy Rodgers as the wife of a grocery store magnate. This is a good thing for it takes several grocery stores to feed Patsy's 10 children.

Next I saw bespectacled John Dinsmore, as professor of Atomic Energy at the University of Missouri. His classmates always knew he could do it.

I also saw fearless Wilma Lane, intrepid traveler in to space as the first girl to reach the moon. She said that her trip was exciting and that she was planning to go back as soon as possible. Seems like she met some moon man on her trip.

I then saw James Glasgow, former member of the Keytesville band, but who now was chief bass horn player in the New York Philharmonic.

The crystal ball then began to get a little cloudy. It soon cleared, however, and I had a vision of the Keytesville High School. It was quite a change from the old one. I saw Sue Miller go into the school. I was thinking that it surely took her a long time to get through school, when I learned that she was a teacher there, teaching, of all things, Geometry.

Then the visions began coming fast and furious. I saw James Atterbury as the star basketball player of a leading professional team. I also saw Barbara Akers as a leading model and fashion designer.

I saw Ted Hern as a chemical engineer, working for the government and living in Arizona. He blamed it all on his High School Chemistry.

I then saw Darlene Spoonmore looking somewhat Eskimoish, clad in her fur parka. She was famous hunter and trapper in the wilds of Canada. Her specialty was foxes.

My next vision was of the former Jenny Huckabey, now Dawn Day, the greatest acting find of the century. Her latest picture, in super stereosonic sound, fourth dimension, and olfactorious scent, was about to be released.

I next saw Maxine Blanton happily married to a millionaire and of course is living in a New York Penthouse.

I also saw William Christopher who was a world famous surgeon. He reported that his last operation was a great success except for one thing, the patient died.

As I gazed intently into my crystal ball a vision of our national capitol appeared. On the Capitol steps was none other than Senator Norman Bently, who had just proposed a bill that would do away with schools.

The last vision that I received was of the very wealthy society matron, Mrs. Roy Willett, the former Miss Donna Fry of Keytesville. She had just thrown another fabulous party; she didn't say where to.

Class Will

Here on January 7, 1957, I print this will for the Senior class of 1957 as none of them can write yet. This will is fully contested and witnessed by three trustworthy friends of mine: Me, Myself, and I.

Helen Akers leaves her ability to get bookkeeping to Vera Fry.

Robert Wayne Beaver leaves through Musselfork by way of the Jones Resident.

Joyce Blackwell leaves her ability to get boyfriends to Marilyn Johnson.

Harold Edgar Calvert leaves his cowboy boots and his horse, Trigger, to Mr. Sadler, and hopes he has a rodeo of a time.

Evelyn Joyce Ford leaves Lois Blanton her Elvis Presley billfold and hopes Lois will devote all her time keeping her blue suede shoes clean.

Charles Richard Drace leaves his ability to keep everyone laughing--No, on second thought he'd better keep it he may need it at Central.

Sylvia Bernice Jansen leaves her ability to sing "Hound Dog" to Barbara Kussman since she is so shy.

Donald William Freese will keep his ability to go steady with the prettiest girl in school.

Kay Frances Neil leaves with all the men she can get and doesn't want to leave you poor juniors even one.

Charles Robert Hayes leaves because Mrs. Malone can't stand him another year.

Kathryn Smith leaves the editor ship to Bonnie, and we hope she does as well as Kathryn did.

Mike Kussman leaves, and this a great relief to all teachers and opposing basketball teams.

Eleanor Turner leaves so she can have some fun.

James Shannon leaves in his 88.

Frances Williams leaves her ability to find a place to smoke at ballgames to anyone who thinks they can get by with it.

Chris Tatum leaves his nickname "Tater-bug" to anyone who wants blisters.

I hereby testify that all is in order except in my head, so I sign as usual.
